Dr. Wilson’s fields of study include nonprofit management, immigrant integration, and cultural competency. She is interested in the role that nonprofit organizations play in delivering services to minority communities – ethnic, racial, and cultural minorities as well as immigrants – in the United States. Dr. Wilson is the author of The Politics of Latino Faith: Religion, Identity, and Urban Community (2008), which examined the social and political involvement of three Latino faith-based organizations in the United States.

Published Books:

Published Chapters:

Published Journal Articles:

Published Academic Essays:

Published Book Review Essays:

Published Book Reviews:

Recent Op-eds:

