Assessments, Tests, and Quizzes

Assessments, tests, and quizzes are all called “Tests” in the new Blackboard 9 system. As with all other content, Tests can be found in the Content Homepage section.

It is very important to note that you cannot add/edit/delete any Tests in the Content Homepage unless Edit Mode is set to ON. You can find edit mode on the top right-hand section of your screen.

To create a Test, first go into the Content Homepage and then either mouse over or click the Create Assessment button. Select the first option for Test.

In the new page, you must either select an existing Test or Create a new one. If you click the Create button, you will be prompted to enter a Name, Description, and Instructions for your new Test. After clicking Submit in the bottom right, you can then begin to Create Questions. After you have completed creating the Test, you can go back to the Content Homepage, click Create Assessment > Test, and select the name of your newly created Test in the list. Clicking the Submit button allows you to set self-explanatory options and make it available to students at a time of your choosing. After creation, you can edit Tests via the beige Course Management navigation links on the far left-hand side of the page. Specifically, Course Management > Course Tools > Test, Surveys, and Pools.

The Survey option underneath of Tests is essentially the same thing, just with a different name.

The Assignment area is the direct replacement for the Dropbox in the old Blackboard 8 server.

The last four options, Self and Peer Assessment, McGraw-Hill Assignment, SafeAssignment, and Find Shared Assignments, are all targeted towards the undergraduate schools.
