User Accounts

One of the new and improved features of our new Blackboard 9 server is a unified username and password procedure. In the past, your Blackboard password, and sometimes even username, was different from all of your other accounts, but that is no longer the case.

Your LAW SCHOOL email username and password will NOT work on the new Blackboard 9 system. Instead, you must use your MAIN CAMPUS username and password. Your MAIN CAMPUS username is usually your first initial followed by your last name. If your name is John Smith, your username would be jsmith. If you have a common username, as jsmith is, you may have additional numbers at the end, such as jsmith02.

If you do not know your MAIN CAMPUS username or password, you can have it reset by following the instructions at Unfortunately, Law School staff do not currently have the ability to reset your password for you, so all password issues must utilize the link above. If the link does not work, or you do not have access to a computer, you can contact the TechZONE help desk at 610-519-7777 between the hours of 9-5 from Monday through Friday.
