Study COMMUNICATION Abroad

Why Study Abroad?

- Develop confidence, a strengthened sense of personal identity, flexibility & creativity.
- Practice real-world problem solving through living and studying in an unfamiliar environment.
- Gain exposure to the way professionals in your field may view the subject matter differently.
- Strengthen cross-cultural skills and understand how to work with people, companies and organizations from other countries and cultures.

Choosing a Program

There are many different types of study abroad options in the world. Think about whether you would like to study at an overseas university with local students, or perhaps undertake an internship for academic credit, or even participate in a program designed specifically for study abroad students, maybe even in a non-English speaking country. Programs marked with ‘§’ indicate that advanced understanding of the country's language is a prerequisite for participation.

The following list of programs should only serve as a guide to introduce you to the many options available to Communication students overseas and does not guarantee automatic approval of programs or courses. You will work with your study abroad advisor to determine the program that best meets your academic and personal goals. It is possible that courses mentioned in this publication will not be available to you during your time overseas, either due to timetable conflicts or course pre-requisites. All overseas courses must be approved by the appropriate Villanova faculty member on your Prior Approval Form and submitted to the Office of International Studies before the fall and spring break deadlines.

It's never too early to start thinking about studying abroad. Sign up online for a group information session today!
