Program Overview

The Spring Accounting Internship (SAI) is a full-time paid experience enabling participants to learn accounting, auditing, tax, and/or consulting techniques and objectives while obtaining practical exposure to the accounting/business environment. Participants earn six credits for the internship and the program is designed so that students may complete a total of 12 additional credits during the spring semester and/or the summer following their junior year, thereby retaining full-time student status.

Prerequisites

To participate in the SAI Program, students must be:

- ✓ full-time, undergraduate with junior standing during internship
- ✓ minimum overall GPA of 2.5

Academic Credit

Six (6) credits may be earned for successful completion of a Spring Accounting Internship. The six credits awarded fulfill two free elective course requirements and do not fulfill major or minor credit requirements. The maximum number of internship and CoOp course credits that can be used to fulfill graduation requirements is six (6). If a student has fulfilled all his/her free elective requirements, then internship credits are designated extra credits over and above graduation requirements. Internships are graded on a Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory basis.

In addition to the six free elective credits earned for successful completion of SAI, participants can earn up to 12 credits by taking classes during the summer after SAI and/or during Spring minimesters. Typically, SAI students complete the internship component of SAI by mid-March and have the opportunity to take four distance learning courses offered through two four-week minimesters. The courses displayed below are the only courses available through the minimesters. SAI participants taking more than 18 credits between the spring and summer semesters will be expected to pay out of pocket on a per credit basis for additional credits.
