Best Practices: Lab Attire-
cover your feet AND ankles

The Clinical Laboratory Standards Institute (CLSI) states, "Shoes should be comfortable, rubber soled, and cover the entire foot. Because canvas shoes will absorb chemicals or infectious fluids, they are not recommended. Leather or a synthetic, fluid-impermeable material is suggested."

YES
Always wear shoes that completely cover and protect your feet

NO
Never wear open toed shoes or sandals and wear socks