Keynote Speakers

Gabriela Valdivia is a Professor of Geography at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and Assistant Dean in Honors Carolina. She is a feminist political ecologist examining the relationship between resources and socio-environmental inequities, with a focus on environmental injustices in Latin America. Gabriela is the author of the digital project Crude Entanglements, which explores the affective dimensions of oil production; co-author of Oil, Revolution, and Indigenous Citizenship in Ecuadorian Amazonia; and co-editor of the Routledge Handbook of Critical Resource Geography.

Jaskiran Dhillon is an anti-colonial scholar and organizer who grew up on Treaty Six Cree Territory in Saskatchewan, Canada. Her work spans the fields of settler colonialism, anthropology of the state, environmental justice, anti-racist feminism, colonial violence, political ecology, and youth studies. Her writing has been published in The Guardian, The Nation, Cultural Anthropology, Feminist Formations, Environment and Society, Social Texts, and Decolonization among other venues. She is the author of Prairie Rising: Indigenous Youth, Decolonization, and the Politics of Intervention (2017) and co-editor of Standing with Standing Rock: Voices from the #NoDAPL Movement (2019). Her new book, Notes on Becoming a Comrade: Solidarity, Relationality, and Future Making is forthcoming in 2022. Jaskiran is an Associate Professor of Global Studies and Anthropology at The New School and served as the founding president of The New School’s AAUP Chapter. She is also building a radical community bookstore in West Philadelphia.
Ana Llácer is a Spanish/American journalist and independent documentary filmmaker particularly interested in stories with an environmental justice focus and rooted in the vindication of human rights. Her recent works include the short films No fate (2015) and Royalty (2020), and the documentary UMA: A Water Crisis in Bolivia (2020), winner of the Best Documentary Feature Award at the Red Nation International Film Festival (2020) and the Best Indigenous Film Award at the Wildlife Conservation Film Festival (2020).
