

Journal of Catholic Social Thought

Volume 9 – Number 1

Table of Contents

Introduction

- Introduction 1
Robert DeFina and Barbara Wall, Villanova University

Historical and Social Contexts

- Building a New Social Contract at Work: A Moral and Economic Imperative 7
Thomas Kochan, Massachusetts Institute of Technology
- One-Hundred Years of American Catholics and Organized Labor, 1870s-1970s 23
Maria Mazzenga, The Catholic University of America
- The Crisis of Family and Unions in Late Modern Global Capitalism 43
Joe Holland, Pax Romana Center for International Study of Catholic Social Teaching

Issues and Practices

- Is It Possible To Have a Business Based on Solidarity and Mutual Trust? The Challenge of Catholic Social Teaching to Capitalism and the Promise of Southwest Airlines 59
Oliver Williams, University of Notre Dame
- Sex Trafficking and Worker Justice: Insights from Catholic
Social Teaching 71
Michelle Dempsey, Villanova University
- Meatpacking Workers' Perceptions of Working Conditions,
Psychological Contracts and Organizational Justice 91
María Teresa Gastón, Creighton University
- The Ethics of Prison Labor 117
Andrew Skotnicki, Manhattan College
- Welfare Reform in the 21st Century: What Role can Subsidiarity Play? 129
Robert Weaver, University of Windsor, Canada

Centesimus Annus

- Centesimus Annus Twenty Years Later: Toward Christian Economic Practices that Reflect an Authentic Vision of Human Creativity 151
Kari-Shane Davis Zimmerman, St. Thomas University (MN)
- Twenty Years of Interpreting Centesimus Annus on the Economy 171
Matthew A. Shadle, Loras College

Book Reviews

New Financial Horizons: The Emergence of an Economy of Communion	193
Mary Hirschfeld, Villanova University
Catholic Social Learning: Educating the Faith that Does Justice	197
Marcus Mescher, Boston College
In the Spirit of St. Francis & The Sultan: Catholics and Muslims Working Together for the Common Good	201
Jamie Schillinger, St. Olaf College (MN)
Looking beyond the Individualism & Homo Economicus of Neoclassical Economics: A Collection of Original Essays	205
Brett Wilmot, Villanova University	