* Confidential means the person will not report the incident to Public Safety or the Title IX Coordinator except, in some cases, as an incident without identifying information (to comply with Clery reporting requirements on crime statistics). Other resources are private, meaning the report and names may be shared but only with University employees who are involved in the investigation or resolution of such incidents or as required by law.

** Sexual Assault Resource Coordinator (SARC)

The University has designated the Sexual Assault Resource Coordinator team to provide immediate assistance to any student who has experienced sexual misconduct. The Sexual Assault Resource Coordinator on call at the time of the contact may meet with the person, provide information about safety, emotional and physical well-being, on campus and community resources, possible supportive measures, and review the person's options to address the complaint under this Policy. The Sexual Assault Resource Coordinator team also provides ongoing support and assistance through any University and/or criminal justice review, investigation, or resolution process. The University's Sexual Assault Resource Coordinator on-call can be reached at 484-343-6028 and is available 24 hours/day. Members of the SARC Team do not act as legal counsel and generally are unable to serve as advisors in University disciplinary proceedings.

*** Excerpt from Policy (IV B) on confidentiality of reports to the Sexual Assault Resource Coordinator (SARC)

2. Nurses and Nurse Practitioners at the Student Health Center and the Sexual Assault Resource Coordinator (SARC) team. The University has designated these employees to provide immediate assistance and support to any person wishing to make a report of sexual misconduct. These people are considered responsible employees and are required to share disclosures of sexual misconduct with the Title IX Coordinator, but generally only report that an incident occurred without revealing any personally identifying information about the person, if requested by the reporting person. These reports to the Title IX Coordinator will include the name of the Respondent (if shared), general nature of the incident, date, time of day, and location, as well as other information needed to assess whether an on-going threat is present in order to evaluate whether a timely warning should be issued.

+ Title IX Coordinator

The University has appointed Ms. Ryan Rost as its Title IX Coordinator. The Title IX Coordinator oversees the University's centralized review, investigation, and resolution process for matters arising under this Policy and coordinates the University's compliance with Title IX. The Title IX Coordinator is a University resource who: can discuss with Complainants and Respondents the availability of supportive measures with or without the filing of a formal complaint; will consider the Complainant and Respondent's wishes with respect to available supportive measures; will explain to the Complainant the process for filing a formal complaint; and can explain to the Respondent the process following the filing of a formal complaint.

See Appendix C for the complete Title IX Notice.
