

Dear Members of the Villanova Community,

We are pleased to announce that our new advising platform, Slate for Student Success, is now available to all faculty, advisors (faculty and staff), and success staff who work with students.

Please login to Slate with your single sign-on account here: <https://success.villanova.edu/portal/faculty-staff>. A MyNOVA link will be added later this week as well. Training materials for the most used features will be added to the home screen this week

As a reminder, NolijLink and Advise will be retired on September 15. After that date, all data from these systems will be either migrated into Slate or securely stored in a data retention center managed by University Technology Services. To ensure a smooth transition, please begin to use Slate for all advising, note-taking, and other student success activities—this will prevent the need to monitor multiple systems during the changeover.

If you have any questions, problems, or would like to request additional training for your department, please contact the Slate for Student Success Team at slatesuccess@villanova.edu.

Sincerely,

Project Co-Sponsors

Catherine Connor, Vice Dean of Enrollment Management

Dr. Randy Weinstein, Vice Provost for Teaching & Learning and Professor of Chemical & Biological Engineering

Slate for Student Success Team

Brian Galloway, Assistant Dean of Enrollment Management

Chris Murray, Director of Technology for Student Success

Megan Zak DiGiuseppe, Director of Student Retention Services