

PSC 8100
The Legislative Branch

The course is intended to acquaint the students with the structure and functions of Congress. Included in the material will be in-depth studies of the importance of congressional procedures, and congressional-presidential relations.